VOL. XIX.]

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22, 1818.

[No. 5285.]

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS
is recommended
Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West India and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration, and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance; they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

inate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, ca-moves the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

OH, WEEP NOT FOR THOSE, &c.
Oh weep not for those, who have sunk to their rest,
In the blaze of their martial renown!
Whose spirits have fled to the realms of the best—
Whom the laurels of martyrdom crown;
Oh weep not for those, who have fled to the bourn,
Where the dust of their forefathers sleep!
Whose relics repose in the rude lettered urn,
Or bleach on the shores of the deep.
Weep not for the DEAD—the dead cannot hear—
They feel not the sting of neglect;
Their spirits have soared to their own native sphere—
They need not the tears of respect.

Weep not for the dead, but weep for the brave
Who wander, forlorn and distressed,
Whose sun has declined to the verge of the grave,
Who freeze on INGRATITUDE'S breast!

The Analectic Magazine for June last, in reviewing the "Memoirs of the life and writings of Benjamin Franklin," observes, that "a most striking fact is contained in a letter from Mr. Benjamin Vaughan to Dr. Franklin—one that exemplifies the early intellectual and moral superiority of the mechanical classes of the English colonies over those of any other part of the world, is, that the most extensive of the present scientific and literary institutions of Philadelphia, originated with young tradesmen, in great part, the club of which Franklin discourses, with so much satisfaction, and of which he says, that it was the best school of philosophy, morality and politics, which existed in the province. The fifty persons who composed the whole list of the subscribers to the scheme of the Philadelphia library, were mostly, as he relates, of the same vocation; and the library, he adds, was the mother of all the North American libraries; which, making the common tradesmen and farmers as intelligent as some gentlemen from other countries, contributed, in some degree, to the stand so generally made throughout the colonies in defence of their privileges."

By the last western mail we received a paper, entitled the "Illinois Emigrant," published at Shawnee Town, formerly a small village, the residence of the famous Shawnee Prophet, so well known as an active auxiliary to the British in our late war. Every day the increase and prosperity of the western country more fully develops itself—its population multiplies with a rapidity that has no example, and the emigration daily taking place, reminds us of the large caravans that pass the great deserts of Africa. How delightful to contemplate the change which a few passing years has brought about. But a little while ago the western country was one boundless forest, the residence of savages and wild beasts. It now presents to the eye of the astonished beholder, as he passes thousands of miles down those great rivers, the Ohio and Mississippi, a well cultivated country, where innumerable villages, and many large towns; where literature, science, commerce and mechanism flourish to an extent little short of any of our large cities. LEADYARD'S EULOGY ON WOMEN.
I have always remarked that women in all countries are civil, obliging, tender and humane; that they are ever inclined to be gay and cheerful, timorous and modest; and that they do not hesitate, like men, to perform a generous action. Not haughty, arrogant or supercilious, they are full of courtesy and fond of society; more liable to err than men, but generally more virtuous, and performing more meritorious actions. To a woman, either civilized or savage, I never addressed myself in the language of decorum and friendship without receiving a decent and friendly answer—with men it has been otherwise.

In wandering over the barren plains of Denmark, through honest Sweden, and frozen Lapland, rude and churlish Finland, unprincipled Russia, and the wide spreading regions of the wilder Tartar—if hungry, dry, cold, wet or sick, the women have been friendly to me, and uniformly so; and to this virtue, so worthy of the appellation of benevolence, these actions have been performed in so free and so kind a manner, that if I was dry I drank the sweetest draught, and if hungry, I ate the coarsest morsel with a double relish.

Let thy wit be thy friend, thy mind thy companion, and thy tongue thy servant.
Fortune makes crimes pass for frolics, and frolics pass for crimes in those she is averse to.

ALEXANDRIA: WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 22.
IV. CANTO OF CHILDE HAROLD.

Nothing more decisively evinces the powers of Lord Byron than this, that while all critics are displeased with his subjects, and some even censure his language as obscure, and his versification as careless, he yet commands their admiration by an originality of which genius of the highest order can alone be the source; by the vigorous, searching penetration, and distinguishing faculty which he brings to the inspection of even the most common and trivial objects, and which enables him to analyze their properties, to see them at once in all their relations, and to detect what had escaped the observation of all former spectators.—Novelty is always delightful—and by it, whether he elicits it from things old and familiar, or produces it by the introduction to our view of scenes before unimagined or unknown, the works of this author are always recommended. "Of the brilliant skies and variegated landscapes of Greece, (says a great critic) every one has formed to himself a general notion, from having contemplated them through the hazy atmosphere of some prose narration; but in Lord Byron's poetry, every image is distinct and glowing, as if it were illuminated by its native sunshine; and in the figures which people the landscape, we behold not only the general form and costume, but the countenance and the attitude, and the play of features and of gesture accompanying, and indicating the sudden impulses of momentary feelings." The magic of coloring by which this is effected, is perhaps the most striking evidence of this poet's talent." In the former cantos of this story of Childe Harold, which has been well called a metrical itinerary, the matchless exertion of genius here alluded to, has been uniformly displayed in the landscapes of Portugal, Spain, Epirus, Acarnania, Greece, &c. and in the figures of the people which inhabit them; and with no fainter or less wonderful magic of coloring appear in the landscapes of Italy, and in the figures of those who peopled that delightful country, and particularly Rome and Venice, not only in remote antiquity, but in modern times. What a grand conception of Italy is conveyed by the following lines!—

"But my soul wanders; I demand it back To meditate amongst decay, and stand
A ruin amidst ruins; there to track
Fallen states and buried greatness, o'er a land
Which was the mightiest in its old command
And is the loveliest, and must ever be
The master mould of nature's heavenly hand,
Wherein we cast the heroic and the free.
The beautiful, the brave, the lords of earth
And sea."

"The commonwealth of kings, the men of Rome!
And even since, and now, fair Italy!
Thou art the garden of the world, the home
Of all art yields, and nature can decree:
Even in thy desert, what is like to thee?
Thy very weeds are beautiful, thy waste
More rich than other climes' fertility;
Thy wreck a glory, and thy ruin grace
With an immaculate charm which cannot be defaced."

A delicious description follows, of an evening on the banks of the Brenta, in which the setting sun divides the sky with the rising moon, and

"A sea
Of glory streams along the Alpine height
Of blue Friulian mountains."

"Parting day
Dies like the dolphin, whom each pang imbueth
With a new color as it gasps away.
The last still loveliest, till 'tis gone—and All is gray."

From this our author turns to the Italian poets: first to Petrarch, whose mansion and sepulchre at the mountain village of Arquà, draw forth from the poet some just reflections upon solitude; from which he bursts into a strain of indignant reprobation of Alfonso, Duke of Ferrara, whose tyranny destroyed the inimitable poet Tasso.

"If from society we learn to live,
'Tis solitude should teach us how to die:
It hath no flatterers; vanity can give
No hollow aid; alone—man with his God Must strive;

"Or it may be, with demons, who impair
The strength of better thoughts, and seek Their prey
In melancholy bosoms, such as were
Of moody texture from their earliest day,
And lov'd to dwell in darkness and dismay,
Deeming themselves predestin'd to a doom
Which is not of the pangs that pass away;
Making the sun like blood, the earth a tomb,
The tomb a hell, and hell itself a murkier gloom."

"Ferrara! in thy wide and grass-grown streets,
Whose symmetry was not for solitude,
Thou seem'st as 'twere a curse upon the seats
Of former sovereigns, and the antique brood
Of Este, which for many an age made good
Its strength within thy walls, and was of yore
Patron or tyrant, as the changing mood

Of petty power impell'd, of those who wore
The wreath which Dante's brow alone had worn before.

"And Tasso is their glory and their shame, Hark to his strain! and then survey his cell!"
And see how dearly earn'd Torquato's fame
And where Alfonso bade his poet dwell.
The miserable despot could not quell
The insulted mind he sought to quench, and blend
With the surrounding maniacs, in the hell
Where he had plung'd it. Glory without end Scattered the clouds away—and on that name attend

"The tears and praises of all time; while thine
Would rot in its oblivion—in the sink
Of worthless dust which from thy boasted line
Is shaken into nothing; but the link
Thou formest in his fortunes bids us think
Of thy poor malice, naming thee with scorn!
Alfonso, how thy ducal pageants shrink
From thee! If in another station born, Scarce fit to be the slave of him thou mad'st
to mourn."

"Thou! form'd to eat, and be despis'd, and die.
Even as the beasts that perish, save that thou Had'st a more splendid trough and wider
line
He, with a glory round his furrow'd brow,
Which emanated then, and dazzles now
In face of all his foes, the crucian quire;
And Boileau, whose rash envy could allow No strain which sham'd his country's creaking lyre,
That whetstone of the teeth—monotony in wire."

"Peace to Torquato's injured shade!—
'twas his
In life and death to be the mark where wrong Aim'd, with her poison'd arrows; but to miss.
Oh, victor unsurpass'd in modern song!
Each year brings forth its millions; but how long
The tide of generations shall roll on,
And not the whole combined and countless through Compose a mind a like thine? Though all in one Condensed their scattered rays, they would not form a sun."

"Great as thou art, yet parallel'd by those Thy countrymen before thee born to shine,
The bards of hell and chivalry: first rose
The Tuscan father's comedy divine;
Then, not unequal to the Florentine,
The southern Scott, the minstrel who call'd forth
A new creation with his magic line,
And like the Ariosto of the north,
Sung lady-love and war, romance and knighthood."

"The lightning rent from Ariosto's bust
The iron crown of laurel's mimic'd leaves:
Nor was the ominous element unjust,
For the true laurel-wreath which glory
weaves,
Is of the tree no bolt of thunder cleaves,
And the false semblance but disgraced his brow.
Yet still if fondly superstition grieves,
Know that the lightning sanctifies below
Where'er it strikes,—yon head is doubly sacred now."

"Tasso was immured in a mad house, on a charge of insanity, by order of his patron, Alfonso."

"The bust of Ariosto was struck by lightning, and a crown of iron laurels that surmounted it was melted away.
A superstition to this effect prevailed among the ancients. The curian lake and the ruminal fig-tree in the forum, having been touched by lightning were held sacred. Bodies scathed and persons struck dead, were thought to be incorruptible; and a stroke not fatal conferred dignity upon the man so distinguished by heaven. This superstition was not confined to the worshippers of Jupiter; the Lombards believe in the omens furnished by lightning;—and a christian priest confesses that by a diabolical skill in interpreting thunder, a seer foretold to the duke of Turin (Agluff) an event which came to pass, and gave him a queen and crown."

MORE PIRACY.
The schr. Sight, Captain Sylva, arrived at St. Jago de Cuba, from this port, on the 10th ult, after touching at Barracoa, in distress, having been plundered two days after leaving this, by a piratical privateer.—The following particulars were furnished by Captain Sylva—

"Sailed from Charleston on the 23d of May, bound to St. Jago de Cuba—on the 25th of same month, in latitude 28, 48, longitude 78, 25, at 10 A. M. was boarded by a pilot boat schooner of about 36 tons burthen, manned with about twenty-five men, all Englishmen, and showing no colors—then in company with another armed schooner with two topsails—the latter said to have left Savannah 14 days before. They boarded and kept possession of the Sight till 4 o'clock, P. M. during which they robbed Captain Sylva, his mate, and passengers, of their clothes and of different pieces of furniture, together with goods belonging to the cargo and to the adventures, and articles appertaining to the vessel, viz. the square-sail, the gaff-mast-top-sail, a piece of Russia sheeting, the new rigging, and the provisions, amounting in all to upwards of four thousand dollars."

Quebec, June 16.
On or about 24th May, Captain James Armstrong, of the schr. Experiment, in her passage from Montreal, destined in the river just above Wm. Henry, an enormous black bear. He immediately manned a boat with four men to go in pursuit of him. The only means of annoyance capable of being furnished them, was a boat hook and an axe, the schooner having no fire arms or other weapons on board. The men, though so inadequately prepared, with singular intrepidity made for bruin, and a very severe contest ensued, in which they were frequently exposed to the danger of his upsetting the boat. At one period of the conflict their situation was extremely perilous, having made a blow at him with the boat hook, the enraged animal seized it, and by a tremendous effort of strength instantly wrenched it from the Staff. The people with a courage equalled only by their dexterity, still kept their antagonist at bay, till by repeated blows aimed at his head, they eventually (with merely the staff of the boat hook) succeeded in killing him, and got their prize in safety to the schooner. He appeared to be in nearly a famished state, and doubtless had left some of the Islands opposite to seek food on the shores of Wm. Henry.—The visit of such a stranger is worthy of notice, as he was of a most enormous size, his skin being nearly square, and upwards of five feet. Had he been in condition he must have been a tremendous specimen of the species. The capt. and crew who manned the boat, deserve great praise in thus protecting the vicinity from this predatory intruder, as few persons would perhaps be found sufficiently energetic to encounter such (to use a pugilistic phrase) an ugly customer.

The Jury on the trial of Mr. Archibald McLellan, as an accessory to the murder of Owen Keveny, in the Indian counties, returned a verdict on Saturday last of not Guilty, and Mr. McLellan was accordingly discharged.

PENSACOLA.
The following originating in the official gazette of our country, is worthy of notice. Much may be drawn from the language of the National Intelligencer:—N. Y. Gaz.

"The latest accounts we have from Pensacola are by way of Mobile, under date of the 19th ultimo. We are sorry to find it stated, in the Mobile Gazette, as a report entitled to some degree of credit, that 'there are many complaints on the part of the Spanish garrison and subjects in Pensacola, that the articles of capitulation have not been strictly observed on the part of the Americans.'"

"This complaint may have arisen from general feeling on the part of the Spanish inhabitants, without any particular foundation in fact; or from the difficulty which may occur from our officers not accurately discriminating between a positive conquest of the soil and sovereignty, and a temporary occupation of it, supposed to be made necessary to the safety of our frontier, by the indisposition or inability of the Spanish authorities, to cause good faith to the United States to be observed therein."

"The same paper informs us, that Pensacola, if the information of the editor of the Gazette be correct, 'presents an extraordinary political aspect; that Spanish law prevails as to every thing except the Custom House and Revenue Laws, and as to those the laws of the United States are in force; and that both Spanish and American property had been seized in the port of Pensacola and sent to the United States for adjudication.' It is easy to foresee that this state of things will give sufficient employment to the courts in that quarter; and that, although Pensacola has been occupied by the military authority, nothing short of an act of Congress can reconcile the existing incongruities in the administration of law in that territory."

"With respect to the occupation of that post, we are yet without any other information than that afforded by the two general orders of the General commanding the Southern Division, already published.—The despatches received the other day by express, and which were reported to contain an ample justification of Gen. Jackson's conduct, the public have not yet seen. It is presumed they will be made public when the Executive shall have acted upon them."

"The conduct of the Executive and of general Jackson, in the occupation of Pensacola, had been arraigned by writers in the Georgia Journal, and one or two other respectable papers, not to notice the grimaces of some habitual snarlers, directed against the former exclusively. The Executive is blamed for what is termed an indirect war on Spain, if the measure should have been authorised; and Gen. Jackson is censured, if, without such authority, it shall appear that he has assumed the responsibility of this act. These are points, in attempting to investigate either of which we find ourselves stopped, in limine, by the question, what were the instructions of General Jackson? When that fact is ascertained, we shall not be so entirely at sea as at present: we shall have some landmark to guide us in the pursuit of a correct conclusion, which we now seek in vain."

"What are to be the consequences of this step, though they may be surmised, cannot be predicted; but we shall not err greatly in saying, that much will depend, on the course which the Executive shall now pursue. That course, it is easy to conceive, may be encumbered by such difficulties as must greatly embarrass decision. We have no other feeling or wish, in regard to the result, but that it may comport with the honor and established character of our country. Such, we are sure, is the general feeling; with which we have every confidence that the determination of the Executive will correspond."

From the N. York Merc. Adv. July 17.
Jamaica papers, received yesterday, by the brig Marshal, state, that the Antelope, of 50 guns, rear Admiral Harvey, sailed from Barbadoes on the 4th May, for the purpose of taking possession of Crab Island, near Porto Rico, in consequence of several privateers having lately carried their prizes and booty to that place.

New-Orleans, June 20.
The comet, that has for a few weeks past made its appearance in our hemisphere, has been noticed some time back in other parts of our continent, but philosophical or other remarks on this brilliant stranger have been few. The one which made its appearance a few years since, was accompanied by earth-quakes and tornadoes. Our present season has also been uncommon. For eight weeks past scarcely rain sufficient to lay the dust in our streets, and even the dews of the night have been but little; yet is our city and country healthy.
We are authorized to state that Dr. John H. Robinson is now preparing for publication, notes on the natural, political and civil state of Mexico and Louisiana; together with an exposition of the rise and progress of the Mexican revolution.

INDIAN NEWS.
Extracts from a letter written by Major General John Floyd to the Executive of this state, dated Fairfield, (New St. Mary's) June 24.
The practice of driving cattle from Alachaway has been lately resumed, it seems by dissolute characters from both sides the St. Mary's river, who have had some skirmishing with the Indians, in which two or three Indians are reported to have been killed, and one of the whites by the name of Winsan.

"It is to be apprehended that a species of predatory warfare will be kept up by idle characters on both sides, to the annoyance of the peaceable and inoffensive frontier settlers, unless the general government adopts suitable measures to guard against such evils."

"Taking into view the excesses which have for the last ten years been committed on the frontiers of this country by the Indians, and many of them in times of imaginary peace, it would appear that no part of our extensive borders on the savages, has a stronger claim to governmental protection, rendered the more necessary from the thinness of population and proximity to a neighboring government, who regardless of the sanctity of an existing treaty, have, it is believed, indulged a hidden hostility towards us, by directly or indirectly exciting the savages, (within their territorial limits) to acts of rapine and murder of our citizens—yet the tender sensibilities of many who are beyond the reach of the scalping knife, and tomahawk—who have never witnessed the mangled corpse of a near relative, seem only to sympathize with our red brethren that have fallen victims to a misguided suspicion of their hostility."

"I deplore as much as any one can, the shedding of the innocent blood of the people of any colour, but the expression of public opinion has transcended the bounds of reason, as regards the affair of the Chewah town. A dispassionate enquiry would establish a criterion by which the public sentiment must eventually be regulated—to prejudice a cognizable case, is a proof of indiscretion to say the least of it, and can only find an apology in the folly of those who indulge a propensity for injustice."

Major Bailey informs me that three men had recently returned from Alachaway, who state that the party to which they were attached consisted of ten men, that about an hour after dark on the night of the 16th instant, while these informants were looking after their houses about one hundred and fifty yards from their encampment, the remaining seven men were suddenly attacked by a large party of Indians, who fired at least one hundred guns, and that as none of the number have since appeared, there can be no doubt of their massacre.—They had previous to the last occurrence killed seven Indians, which they had surprised in two small parties.—They further state that from the quantity of Indian signs in almost every direction, that their numbers must be considerable. Captain Cone from Trader's Hill, has marched, I understand, with forty or fifty men to ascertain particulars, and bury the dead.
"It is evident that Gen. Jackson's campaign has afforded no security to this frontier. The force of the savages nearest to us has not been broken, but rather increased by the fugitives who have joined them from other towns in their flight from the imposing force of the army, and thereby pressed more upon this part of the frontier. It will be expedient to keep up a garrison at Trader's Hill, on the St. Mary's river, and on the Buffalo on the Satilla, of at least fifty men each."

For eight weeks past scarcely rain sufficient to lay the dust in our streets, and even the dews of the night have been but little; yet is our city and country healthy.
We are authorized to state that Dr. John H. Robinson is now preparing for publication, notes on the natural, political and civil state of Mexico and Louisiana; together with an exposition of the rise and progress of the Mexican revolution.

INDIAN NEWS.
Extracts from a letter written by Major-General John Floyd to the Executive of this state, dated Fairfield, (New St. Mary's) June 24.
"The practice of driving cattle from Alachua has been lately resumed, it seems by dissolute characters from both sides the St. Mary's river, who have had some skirmishing with the Indians, in which two or three Indians are reported to have been killed, and one of the whites by the name of Vinsan.
It is to be apprehended that a species of predatory warfare will be kept up by the characters on both sides, to the annoyance of the peaceable and inoffensive frontier settlers, unless the general government adopt suitable measures to guard against such evils.
"Taking into view the excesses which have for the last ten years been committed on the frontiers of this country by the Indians, and many of them in times of imaginary peace, it would appear that no part of our extensive borders on the savages, has a stronger claim to governmental protection, rendered the more necessary from the thinness of population and proximity to a neighboring government, who regardless of the sanctity of an existing treaty, have, it is believed, indulged a hidden hostility towards us, by directly or indirectly exciting the savages, (within their territorial limits) to acts of rapine and murder of our citizens—yet the tender sensibilities of many who are beyond the reach of the scalping knife, and tomahawk—who have never witnessed the mangled corpse of a near relative, seem only to sympathize with our red brethren that have fallen victims to a misguided suspicion of their hostility.
"I deplore as much as any one can, the shedding of the innocent blood of the people of any colour, but the expression of public opinion has transcended the bounds of reason, as regards the affair of the Chehaw town. A dispassionate enquiry would establish a criterion by which the public sentiment must eventually be regulated—to pre-empt a cognizable case, is a proof of indiscretion to say the least of it, and can only find an apology in the folly of those who indulge a propensity for injustice.
"Major Bailey informs me that three men had recently returned from Alachua, who state that the party to which they were attached consisted of ten men, the about an hour after dark on the night of the 18th inst., while these informants were looking after their houses about one hundred and fifty yards from their encampment, the remaining seven men were suddenly attacked by a large party of Indians, who fired at least one hundred guns, and that as none of the number have since appeared, there can be no doubt of their massacre.
"They had previous to the last occurrence killed seven Indians, which they had surprised in two small parties.—They further state that from the quantity of Indian signs in almost every direction, that their numbers must be considerable. Captain Cone from Trader's Hill, has marched, I understand, with forty or fifty men to ascertain particulars, and bury the dead.
"It is evident that Gen Jackson's campaign has afforded no security to this frontier. The force of the savages nearest to us has not been broken, but rather increased by the fugitives who have joined them from other towns in their flight from the imposing force of the army, and thereby pressed more upon this part of the frontier. It will be expedient to keep up a garrison at Trader's Hill, on the St. Mary's river, and on the Buffalo on the Satilla, of at least fifty men each."

50 Dollars Reward.
RAN away from the subscriber on Saturday night the 27th ult., a Negro man by the name of Jacob Thompson, aged 22 or 23, nearly 6 feet high, very black, and rather a down look when spoken to—he is very apt to put one hand up to his chin when answering questions. He is a very submissive orderly fellow—His clothing that can be recollected consisted of a blue second cloth coat with yellow buttons, nearly new; Russia sheeting shirt and trousers, and a variety of other clothing not recollected. I fully expect he must have from 150 to 200 dollars with him in money—and very little doubt but he had furnished himself with free papers. Whoever takes up the said fellow, secures him in jail, and retains all moneys and papers he may have on him, shall be entitled to the reward found on him, and the above reward if taken out of the District; or twenty dollars if taken within the District of Columbia.

Harrison, Esq. about 2 miles above Maryland Point, is well adapted to the growth of wheat, corn, and tobacco, and might be made a desirable farm. Also, another tract, containing 201 acres, about half a mile from the former, and adjoining the lands of Col. John Tayloe.—A further description of this property is deemed unnecessary, as those wishing to purchase will, no doubt, view the premises. If not sold before at private, they will be offered at public sale in the town of Port-Tobacco, on Monday the 10th day of August next. Fifty Dollars Reward.
RAN away from the subscriber, on the 3d inst. Negro JEM, about 5 feet 5 inches high, 25 or 26 years of age, stout and well made, except that he is perhaps a little knock-kneed; his complexion dark, has a large scar on the upper lip, occasioned, it is said, by his falling, when a child, on some edged tool; has a down look when spoken to, and is apt to be short and insolent in answering. The clothes he took with him are not recollected, except a red flannel shirt, a pair of Russia duck sailor's trousers, and a coarse wool hat with broad brim, nearly half worn. Having gone off without any provocation, it is probable his intention is to steer his course towards Baltimore or Pennsylvania, and pass for a free man. He has hauled the seine the two last seasons in Pomokeny, where he may have gone, or perhaps to Alexandria, where he is also a little acquainted. If taken 20 miles from home, or out of the county, I will give 20 dollars for securing him in any gaol, or if taken 50 miles from home, or out of the state, I will give the above reward of fifty dollars.

BILL IN CHANCERY.
Robert Perry versus
James B. Dunnington, Robert Dunnington, Francis Taylor and Elizabeth B. his wife, James Bloxham and Catharine his wife, William Simmons and Rather his wife, heirs of William Dunnington.
THE Complainant alleged in his bill that the Respondents have in possession the real estate of their deceased father Wm. Dunnington, whose personal estate was not sufficient for the payment of his debts. Wm. Dunnington's estate is indebted to the complainant in a large sum of money. The object of the bill is to procure a decree for the sale of the land, for the payment of the debts remaining unpaid by the personal estate. Some of the heirs of Wm. Dunnington are non-residents.—It is thereupon, at motion of the Complainant, ordered that he cause a copy of this order to be inserted in the Alexandria Gazette for the space of three months, to the intent that the absent defendants may have notice of this application, and of the subject and object of the bill, and may be warned to appear in this court in person or by a solicitor, to shew cause, if any there be, wherefore a decree should not pass as prayed. Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.
THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.
All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phenomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.
Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavored to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.
The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Tape or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite. Sometimes loathing food and some times voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and loss of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of children—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS

HAIN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor a feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.
The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.
Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.
It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a use of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.
The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.
They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
